Dear Brendan

Re: Kemsley Papermill

Further to our recent telephone conversation I confirm that the Blygold treatment carried out on several air conditioning systems at the above site by your goodselves has been very successful, with some units operating for approximately two years without any recurring problems, as previously experienced.

As you were aware, the aggressive atmosphere at this site was attacking the copper coils on both the evaporative and condensing unit coils causing pinhole leaks to appear, these being extremely difficult to repair. As a result of applying Blygold treatment, these breakdowns have now been eliminated.

Yours sincerely
